

A Recipe For Why I Matter

- 2 cups of kindness
- 1 tablespoon of happiness
- 3 teaspoons of laughter
- ½ tablespoon of imagination
- 2 ounces of generosity
- 1 gram of compassion
- ½ teaspoon of helpfulness
- 4 pinch of charity
- ½ cup of uniqueness

Instructions:

1. To prepare, grease a 4"x6" baking pan, set aside. Pour kindness into a big bowl. Rinse off any remaining selfishness. Mix happiness in the big bowl. Sift out any grumpiness. Microwave for 6 minutes.
2. Into a small bowl add laughter. Carefully add silliness. Peel off any remaining sourness. Add in imagination. Mix laughter, silliness, and imagination together. Combine ingredients into the big bowl.
3. In a medium saucepan combine generosity, sweetness, and compassion. Bring to boil for 7 minutes. Take off heat and let it sit.
4. Put the helpfulness, charity, and uniqueness in the big bowl. Mix for 3 minutes. Pour into the baking pan. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 9 years. Drizzle saucepan mixture over top. And all of that creates ME!
